Recommended Add-on SEM Strategy

Recommended Budget for SEM:

1. PPC Ads for Branding & Traffic (initially recommended budget $500)
2. Social Media Ads including Facebook ads (initially recommended budget $500)

What is PPC?

Pay-per-click (also known as CPC) is where an advertiser pays for their copy/advertisement, Ad, to appear when you search your keywords. A simple and effective way of getting almost instant traffic is by paying for it. When our clients ask us to define Pay Per Click, we tell them that PPC is a very cost-effective means to get their site noticed by their target audience while our other Internet marketing strategies are gradually helping their site achieve their natural ranking potential.

In a way, PPC advertising works like a silent auction. Advertisers place bids on keywords or phrases that they think their target audience would type in a search field when they are looking for specific goods or services. When a web user types a search query into the field of a search engine that matches the advertiser's keyword list or visits a web page with content that correlates to the keywords or phrases chosen by the advertiser, the PPC ad may be displayed on the page. In search engines, a PPC ad is generally just above or to the right of the search results where they can be easily seen. On other kinds of websites, the ad will be placed in the location that the site designer has determined will be the most advantageous to his site and the advertiser.

To differentiate PPC ads from the natural search results displayed on a page, search engines will often place PPC ads under "Sponsored Ads" or "Sponsored Links" which also makes them easier to notice on a page that is crowded with text and other items competing for a web user's attention.

The rates that these outfits charge for a PPC ad vary significantly depending on the popularity of the keyword or phrase. For example, if an advertiser wants a PPC ad targeted for the phrase 'cottage cheese', they can get prominent placement for their PPC ad with a very low bid and a low per-click charge. However, for a phrase such as 'computer', an advertiser can expect heavy competition for prominent placement and expect to pay premium per-click rates. It all comes down to supply and demand for the keywords and phrases that the advertiser wishes to target.

The Ad will appear in one of the following positions:

The image shows a Google search results page for the query "pay per click". The search bar at the top shows the query and the Google logo. Below the search bar, there are navigation tabs for "Web", "Images", "Maps", "Shopping", "Blogs", and "More". The search results are divided into two sections: "Organic Results" and "Paid/Sponsored results".

Organic Results: The first organic result is a Wikipedia entry titled "Pay per click - Wikipedia, the free encyclopedia". The snippet reads: "Pay per click (also known as cost per click) is an internet advertising model used to promote products in which advertisers pay the publisher (typically a ...".

Paid/Sponsored results: The sponsored results are listed on the right side of the page. They include:
