About CRW Systems…

CRW was formed in 1990 and created software for Accounting, and accounting-related activities in business and Government. The company worked closely with their users as they developed their projects. Optional features and functions to support the businesses were built-in. They kept refining their systems on the advice of their clients.

Behind the scenes, at the CRW development office they also thought carefully about their methodologies, tools and repeatability of their routines. They standardized on a database, a development tool, a programming language, and a way to handle repeatable routines. CRW chose Microsoft Access, and SQL, M/S Visual basic and Access DLL's. They were confident in Microsoft products, believing in their longevity and support ability.
