

Job Description

Job title: Trainee Lawyer

Location: Corporate / Funds

Jurisdiction: Luxembourg

The Firm

The Ogier Luxembourg office offers tailor made legal advice to investment funds, private equity and financial institutions on cross-border transactions.

We act for leading fund managers, banks, and corporate and private equity institutional clients based primarily in London, Continental Europe, East Asia and North & South America. Our team of internationally experienced lawyers have experience of providing specialised legal advice (including on a comparative multijurisdictional basis) through the full life-cycle of our clients' structures.

As the only provider of legal services with a significant presence in both Luxembourg and the leading international jurisdictions of the BVI, Cayman, Guernsey and Jersey, Ogier is uniquely placed to provide fully integrated advice on both Luxembourg and offshore laws and investment structures/vehicles.

Purpose of the role

We are currently looking for a trainee for our Corporate/Investment Fund department with an international mind-set, strong commitment and creativity. You would join Ogier, a leading international offshore law firm with a global network of offices, 350 employees and 50 partners in 8 jurisdictions.

Key responsibilities and challenges

- To support senior lawyers in advising domestic and international clients on diversified legal matters in the domain of business law and investment funds;
- To assist on the set up of investment and/or holding regulated and unregulated structures, advising on M&A transactions and financing of international acquisitions, in coordination with clients or lawyers from other jurisdictions; and
- To conduct legal research, draw up legal documents and, more generally, to participate in legal and transactional work relating to the implementation of the above matters.

Competencies

- You have completed a postgraduate law degree, ideally complemented by an additional degree gained abroad (LL.M or Business School degree);
- You have gained some experience in a law firm during relevant internships with international exposure;
- You are interested in a long traineeship (preferably 6 months) that could lead to a permanent position;
- You are a team player and would like to be professionally active in an international environment, with the ability to work effectively in a team and sometimes under pressure;
- You are dynamic, flexible, proactive, service oriented and have excellent communication skills; and
- You have a perfect command of both written and spoken English and French. Any other language would be an asset.

Job description (cont.)

What we offer

- A practical experience including direct contact with Partners and experienced lawyers, creating opportunities for personal progression;
- The possibility to develop a deep expertise and gain substantial exposure to various practice areas;
- A close supervision, with continued guidance by a tutor from your team and by a referent from outside the team throughout your traineeship; and
- A work environment viewing internships as the best way to identify future associates and committed to offer a diverse and highly motivating professional experience.

Contact

If you are interested in joining an international growing law firm, please send your application (including cover letter and resume in English) to recruitment@ogier.com

Regulatory information can be found at ogier.com