DISCLOSURE STATEMENT FOR CONSUMER CREDIT CONTRACTS (other than revolving credit contracts)

WHAT COULD HAPPEN IF YOU FAIL TO MEET YOUR COMMITMENTS (continued from previous page)

Default interest charges and default fees

In the event of a default in payment and while the default continues you must pay the default interest charges. In the event of a breach of the contract or on the enforcement of the contract, the default fees specified below are payable. Your credit contract may allow the creditor to vary these fees and charges.

Default Interest

Default interest is calculated from the time you fail to make a due payment until the arrears are paid. Default interest charges are calculated by multiplying the amount in arrears at the end of the day by a daily default interest rate. The daily default interest rate is calculated by dividing the annual default interest rate by 365. Default interest is charged to the account on the due date of each payment.

The annual default interest rate is [UpLift_Rate]% per annum over the Interest Rate.

Default Fees

If you default under this contract (including a default in payment) you will become liable for all costs, charges and expenses provided for in clause 19 of the Terms and Conditions, including, but not limited to, the Lender's own internal costs of administering the default (such as having to send arrears letters and notices and instruct solicitors) and all legal fees and disbursements calculated on a solicitor and own client basis incurred by the Lender in connection with the enforcement of the contract and the security documents

Default fees become payable on the day the letter is generated, or on the day the service relating to the default fee was rendered or invoiced to the creditor. Charges incurred as a result of a default which are invoiced to the creditor by a third party are passed on to your account at the invoiced amount.

Outline of fees as at the date of this statement:

- Standard overdue notice $13.00
- Reversed payment letter $15.00
- Pre-possession notice $26.00
- Post-possession notice $27.00
- Letter of demand $30.00
- Standard repossession charge $190.00 (passed on at cost, actual cost can vary)

FULL PREPAYMENT

If you pay the unpaid balance in full before the final payment is due (full prepayment), you will be required to pay a fee or charge to compensate the creditor for the loss (if any) resulting from the full prepayment. While the creditor has opted not to use the formula prescribed by the Credit Contracts and Consumer Finance Regulations 2004 to calculate the charge, the charge is only intended to compensate the creditor for the loss they incur as a result of full repayment.

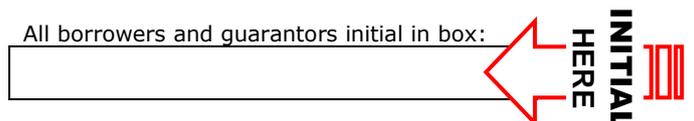

See below for a description and formula showing how this fee is calculated.

You may also be required to pay an account closure administration fee being a charge equal to the creditor's average monthly administration cost arising from full prepayments, as well as the actual costs the creditor incurs in releasing security interests relating to the credit contract. As at the date this statement, these fees were:

- Account closure administration fee $17.00
- Discharge of caveat $130.00
- Discharge of mortgage $180.00

The amount of any fee or charge specified above in this disclosure statement is subject to change, and the amount that will be charged will be the creditor's standard fee or charge at the time that particular fee or charge is imposed.

DISCLOSURE STATEMENT FOR CONSUMER CREDIT CONTRACTS (other than revolving credit contracts)

Fee to compensate the creditor for the loss resulting from full prepayment

The amount you will have to pay to compensate the creditor for the loss (if any) is determined by calculating the difference between the interest rate on your credit contract, and the interest rate the lender would earn if they put the money from the full prepayment on term deposit with their trading bank for the number of days it takes to re-lend the money (or the remaining duration of your account if that would be a lesser period).

The loss calculation is represented by the following formula.

Where:

|     |                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
|-----|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| u   | Unpaid future balance at time of full prepayment                                                                                                                                                      |
| t   | Average time taken to re-lend that money (38 days as at the date of this statement), calculated periodically by the creditor, or remaining term of contract (whichever is the lesser period of time). |
| cin | Interest rate on credit contract                                                                                                                                                                      |
| bin | Interest rate bank would give the lender if it were to put amount u on term deposit for time t                                                                                                        |

Formula:

Example: The amount of $5,000 (u) is prepaid on a contract with an interest rate of 22% p.a (cin). The remaining time is 180 days, but the creditors' calculation of the days it will take to re-lend the money is 44 days (t). The interest rate the lender can achieve for a 180 day term deposit is 7% p.a. (bin).

So, given: u =5000, t =44, cin =22, bin =7, the fee to compensate the creditors loss is:

$$\left[ \left( \frac{22 - 7}{100} \right) \times 5000 \right] \div 365 \times 44 = $90.41$$

RIGHT TO CANCEL

You are entitled to cancel the consumer credit contract by giving notice to the creditor.

Time limits for cancellation

WHAT TO DO IF YOU SUFFER UNFORSEEN HARDSHIP

If you are unable to keep up your payments or other obligations because of illness, injury, loss of employment, the end of a relationship, or other reasonable cause, you may be able to apply to the creditor for a hardship variation.

To apply for a hardship variation, you need to:

- a) make an application in writing; and
- b) explain your reason(s) for the application; and
- c) request one of the following:
  - an extension of the term of the contract (which will reduce the amount of each payment due under the contract); or
  - a postponement of the dates on which payments are due under the contract (specify the period for which you want this to apply); or
  - both of the above; and
- d) give the application to the creditor

Do this as soon as possible. If you leave it for too long, the creditor may not have to consider your application.
