ABOUT JONATHAN

I was first introduced to photography in Japan when a friend let me borrow an old Canon AE1. When I returned to the United States, I became enthralled with the photographic process and eventually graduated with a degree in Japanese, Asian Studies, and a BFA in photography from Brigham Young University. Since that time, photography has become both my passion and my job. I look at every wedding as an opportunity to tell a unique story that includes everything from the setting of the wedding to the smallest decorative details. I know you have put your time and personality into the event, and I want to showcase that.
