The above-named student is applying for a Mellon Mays Undergraduate Fellowship. Through the generosity of the Andrew W. Mellon Foundation, this highly competitive program provides intensive intellectual and social support for eligible students committed to increasing diversity in the faculty ranks of institutions of higher learning. Under the terms of the Mellon Mays grant, participation in the program is open to talented undergraduates who are planning graduate study toward a PhD in a Mellon-designated field, including Anthropology & Archaeology, Area/Cultural/Ethnic/Gender Studies, Art History, Classics, English, Film/Cinema/Media Studies, Foreign Languages & Literatures, Geography & Population Studies, History, Interdisciplinary Studies, Linguistics, Musicology & Ethnomusicology, Music Theory, Performance Studies, Philosophy & Political Theory, Religion & Theology, Sociology and Theater. For more information about the far-reaching work of the program in the promotion of diversity and academic excellence in graduate education, visit mmuf.org.

If selected, the student is expected to work closely with a faculty mentor through their junior and senior years as well as the summer preceding those years on a research project. Mellon fellows receive semester and summer stipends and are expected to work closely with their mentors on their graduate school application materials during their senior year. Program participation begins the summer following the sophomore year with mandatory participation in the MMUF Summer Research Program.

Your evaluation will be confidential. We would appreciate your taking the time to complete this reference form returning it to the applicant in a sealed envelope or emailing the completed faculty statement to Luz Cordoba (lcordoba@bowdoin.edu) and Cathy Cryvoff (ccryvoff@bowdoin.edu) by Friday, February 15, 2019.

The Mellon Mays Undergraduate Fellowship Faculty Advisory Committee [Professors Guy Mark Foster, Marcos Lopez, H. Roy Partridge, and Professor Hanétha Vété-Congolo] will select semi-finalists and interview in early April.
