EMAIL SIGNATURE FORMAT

Although email signatures are different in their own way, all share the same factors and elements. If you don't know anything about it, then this is the right article for you. Scroll down to see various formats you need to consider when making an email signature.

1. Name

The first thing you need to consider in creating an email signature is your name, brand name, or even company name (if applicable). It is essential to let people know who you are. You can even add your picture beside it.

2. Job Title

Next is your job title. If you want people to know who you are and what you do, better put your job title. It is crucial to make sure your email signature is credible.

3. Company Name

Apart from the name and job title, you should also put your company name (if not, logo). It is your way to introduce your company to your potential clients.

4. Other Essential Information

Also, you should put in other essential information. These details must include your contact details, website, email address, and other social media accounts.
