Flyers

Flyers, along with brochures, posters, and banners, are one of the most commonly used advertising tools today. Whenever you need to promote something including but not limited to goods, food, deals, events, or even employment, you can still rely on tangible materials such as flyers to help you out.

Flyer Definition & Meaning

A flyer is a small marketing material that is distributed to the public for widespread advertising purposes.

That means that companies make use of this to provide people with information about their products, services, and events.

What Is a Flyer?

Flyers are a form of printed or digital advertisement that contains details about a business' products or services, and they are either posted in public places or handed to potential clients. They are small printed sheets of paper that are used for bringing attention to a company, service, or event.

10 Types of Flyers

Event Flyers

Event flyers are those that businesses and organizations use to promote holidays, birthdays, weddings, conferences, and graduations.

Business Flyers

Business flyers are among the most common types of flyers and are used by establishments to provide clients and consumers with important pieces of information about their products and services.

Real Estate Flyers

As the name suggests, real estate flyers are used by real estate agencies to promote either their services or the properties being sold.

Corporate Flyers

Corporate flyers are similar to business flyers wherein they are single sheets of printed ads that are used to attract people to certain products, services, or events.

Flyer Uses, Purpose, Importance

Before using flyers, it is important to know how to use them, what they are for, and why their use is important.

Marketing

The three most common uses of flyers are to advertise products, promote services, and recruit people, and this is done by posting or handing out copies of flyers in a public location with heavy foot traffic.

Affordable Promotion

The use of flyers is a cost-effective way to spread your brand message. Not only is it inexpensive to print but the distribution can be cheap as well.

Customer Impact

The importance of flyers is they help create a lasting impression, connect you to new customers, and provide prospects with details about your brand.

What's in a Flyer? Parts?

Headline

The flyer's headline should be interesting to attract the attention of your target audience at first glance. In as few words as possible, the headline should provide readers with an idea of what you are trying to sell or promote.

Main Content

While the headline simply catches the attention of readers, the flyer's main content will provide them with all the necessary information about the product, service, or event. When writing the content, make it as concise yet informative as possible, do not be wordy with it.

Graphics

Aside from the written content, your flyer should also showcase high-quality images and background graphics to further add impact. When adding graphical elements, make sure that they're related to the content and that they follow your brand's theme.

Location and Contact Information

Considered the most important part of a flyer is where readers can find details on how they can find or contact you. Always make it convenient for readers to find a way to reach out to you by including business' addresses and phone numbers in your flyer, you may even include your website address and social media links.

Flyers vs. Leaflets

Flyers are unfolded marketing materials for promoting products or services, announcing events, or disseminating information.

Leaflets are either folded or unfolded advertising materials that are used in targeted advertising campaigns.

What's the Difference Between Flyers, Brochures, and Pamphlets?

Flyers are flat marketing products that are printed on thin paper stocks and are used for conveying concise messages.

Brochures are folded advertising materials that divide each paper stock into different panels.

Pamphlets are small, unbound booklets that are used for providing details about one particular subject.

Flyer Sizes

The two standard flyer sizes that are commonly used across the US and UK are 8.5" by 11" and 8.3" by 11.7". But, there are also other sizes that advertisers can use for printing flyers, and these are listed below.
