

Affidavit of Identity Sizes

An affidavit of identity size may have less gravity than its content but the document's size still needs to be considered, especially for formal physical copies. For digital copies, the paper size should be taken into consideration as well since it is a contributing factor to the overall appearance of the affidavit.

Affidavit of Identity Standard

Unlike a non-formal document or form, which has a variety of sizes to choose from, a legal and formal document or form such as an affidavit has fewer options. The following are standard sizes used for creating or printing an affidavit of identity:

Letter

A US letter-sized document measures 8.5 inches wide and 11 inches long (215.9 × 279.4 mm) and is the most common paper size used for formal documents in the US and the rest of the world, especially if the content requires a short blank page. The affidavit of identity, sometimes confused with statutory declaration due to content similarity, is an example of a legal document printed in this paper size. Although, Letter is used for non-formal documents like a casual report or a request form.

Legal

A longer paper size, Legal (8.5 × 14 inches), is used for documents that typically have a larger amount of word counts like regulations, bylaws, or narrative reports. Despite the shorter content compared to the previous documents, affidavits of identity may be created using this paper size. After all, an affidavit of identification includes statements supporting identity claims that can be lengthy, especially when paired with relevant pieces of evidence.

A4

Another option from the standard paper sizes for affidavits of identity is A4 (210 × 297 mm) which is narrower than the previous two. Northern American systems' standardization of this paper size has mathematical inclinations that make reducing and enlarging a document for printing easier. And because the aforementioned system is followed by the rest of the world, A4 has gained more popularity that made it has been considered for formal writings or printings.

Because an affidavit of identity is a legal document, there are only a few options to choose from for printing. These options vary between Letter, Legal, and A4.
